

|| MIS E-MAGAZINE ||

ସାବନ ମାସ

୧୪୦୨

JULY EDITION, 25

Prepared by the students of Class -VII

Mary Immaculate English Medium School – July Edition 2025

July 2025 has been a month of vibrant achievements, spirited participation, and holistic development at Mary Immaculate English Medium School, reflecting our students' enthusiasm and our school's unwavering commitment to excellence.

- The month began with a proud moment as our students Susmit Biswas and Tanbir Ahmed of Class VIII represented the school at the ASISC Zonal Quiz Contest 2025(CISCE), hosted by Auxilium Convent School, Barasat. Competing against several top schools, their participation showcased not only their brilliance but also their composure and team spirit under pressure.
- In observance of Anti-Drug Day, our school promoted awareness through classroom-based activities, where students and teachers showcased informative anti-drug banners. Our class teachers addressed their respective classes through impactful speeches, supported by awareness videos and PowerPoint presentations—encouraging students to make informed, healthy life choices.
- Another highlight of the month was the opening of the ICSE Sports Portal 2025, where our students eagerly enrolled in various sporting categories like Kho-Kho, Football, Athletics, and many more. This exciting opportunity marks a new era in sports development at our school.

Under the guidance and blessings of our Respected Principal Father, a passionate sports enthusiast, we proudly inaugurated a Volleyball Court and a Cricket Pitch on our very own Mary Immaculate School ground—offering our students a dynamic platform to explore and nurture their athletic potential.

This month, like every other, has been a celebration of our students' growing confidence, talent, and unity. As teachers of MIS, it is our collective joy and privilege to document these triumphs in our monthly e-magazine. The Success Story of MIS will continue to unfold, driven by the passion of our learners and the dedication of our educators.

With God's blessings and our students' unwavering spirit, we move forward—hand in hand—toward a future filled with promise and pride.

Be the Techie of Tomorrow!

In today's fast-changing world, learning computer language or coding is as important as reading and writing.

Technology is everywhere—from mobile apps to smart homes, from online classes to robots—and at the heart of all this is coding. When students learn to code, they don't just use technology, they understand and create it. As Steve Jobs once said, "Everybody should learn to program a computer... because it teaches you how to think." Coding builds problem-solving skills, logical thinking, and creativity. It connects with all subjects—math, science, art, and even English. With coding, students can build their own games, apps, websites, and smart machines. Famous technologists like Bill Gates believe that programming helps you think better and prepares you for the future. In the coming years, most jobs will need tech knowledge, and those who can code will lead. So don't wait—start learning to code now and shape the future with your ideas.

Learn to code, and code to lead!
Be the Brain Behind the Machine

Tr. Pritam Ray
Class Teacher VII-A

Mary Immaculate

Mary Immaculate, our beloved Mother
You have sought this abode as yours
The site of all knowledge and prosperity;
The site of unity in diversity.

Mary our beloved Mother
The source of all wisdom;
Sail us to that ocean of wisdom
Where we acquire your kingdom.

Let your light shines upon us
That saves us from all trespasses;
We seek your constant intercession
Bless us your children in depression.

Tr. Mathur Mahali
Class Teacher VII-B

Art by Tr.Sangita Mondal
Class Teacher VII-C

International Tiger Day

International Tiger Day is celebrated on July 29, aims to raise awareness about tiger conservation and promoting efforts to protect their dwindling populations.

History of International Tiger Day

International Tiger Day was established in 2010 at the Saint Petersburg Tiger Summit in Russia, where leaders from 13 tiger-range countries gathered to address the alarming decline in tiger populations. The summit led to the creation of the Global Tiger Recovery Program, with the goal to double the wild tiger population by 2022 .

Significance of International Tiger Day

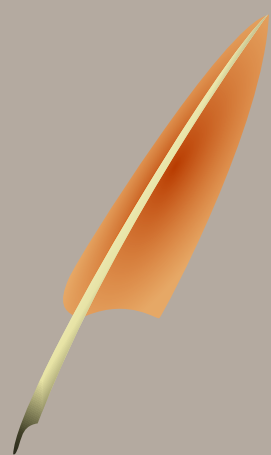

Tigers face numerous threats, including habitat loss, poaching, human-wildlife conflict, and climate change. International Tiger Day highlights the urgent need for collective action to protect tigers and their habitats. The day promotes awareness, supports conservation initiatives, and encourages sustainable practices to ensure the long-term survival of tigers.

The Theme for 2025

This year's theme, "Their Future in Our Hands," emphasizes the critical role humans play in ensuring the survival of tigers. It highlights the need for collective action to protect tiger habitats, combat poaching, and promote sustainable practices tigers .

Let's Act

On International Tiger Day, let's pledge to support conservation efforts and adopt sustainable practices. By working together, we can ensure the long-term survival of tigers and preserve biodiversity. Every small step counts, and collective efforts can lead to significant positive change.

Soham Kar
VII-A

Julius Cæsar and the Month of July

How the Legacy of a Roman Leader Gave Us a Summer

Introduction When we glance at our calendars in July, many of us think of summer holidays, Independence Day celebrations, and warm sunny days. But few stop to consider that this month's very name carries the legacy of one of history's most famous figures and conquerors—Gaius Julius Caesar, the Roman general, statesman, and reformer whose ambition transformed the Roman Republic forever. Who Was Julius Cæsar? Julius Cæsar (100–44 BCE) was a brilliant military commander, skilled orator, and cunning politician. His conquests—especially in Gaul (modern France)—expanded Rome's power dramatically. At home, he navigated the treacherous politics of the Republic, ultimately seizing power and declaring himself Dictator Perpetuo (dictator for life). His centralization of authority provoked fear that he would overthrow the Republic entirely. On March 15, 44 BCE—the Ides of March—a group of senators, led by Gaius Cassius Longinus and Marcus Brutus, assassinated him. He was stabbed to death in the Roman Capitol. Ironically, their act failed to restore the Republic; instead, it set the stage for the rise of the Late Roman civil war, between Cassius and Brutus's forces and Mark Antony and Octavius's forces in the battle of Philippi. In the battle, Cassius and Brutus's forces were defeated. After that, Octavius Cæsar, renamed as Augustus Cæsar, became the next heir. The month of August was named after him.

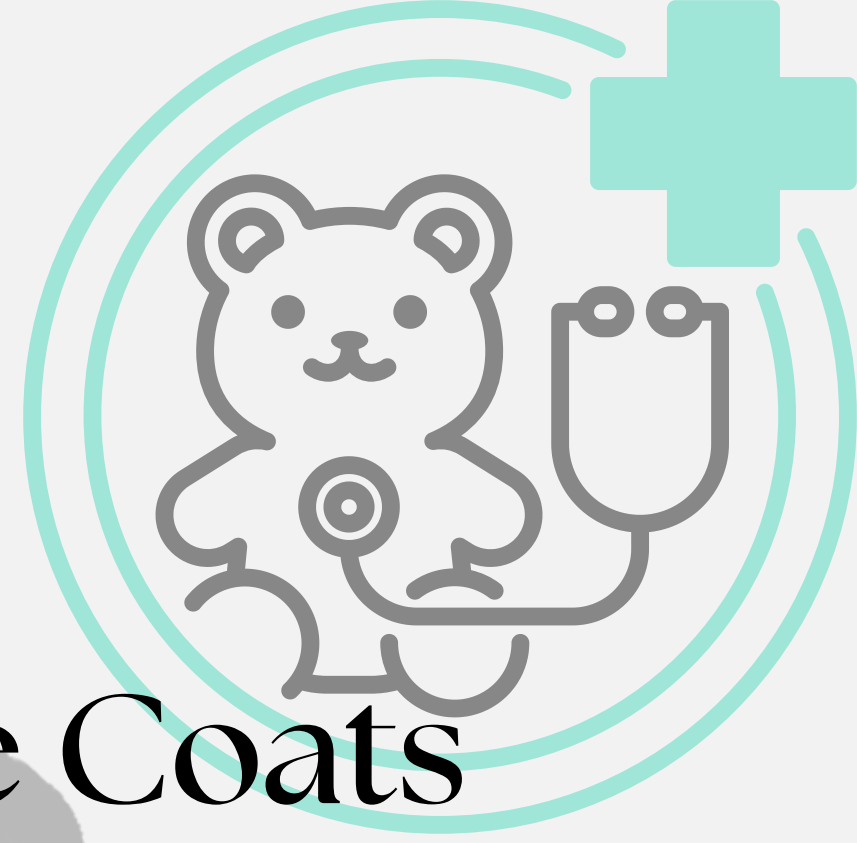

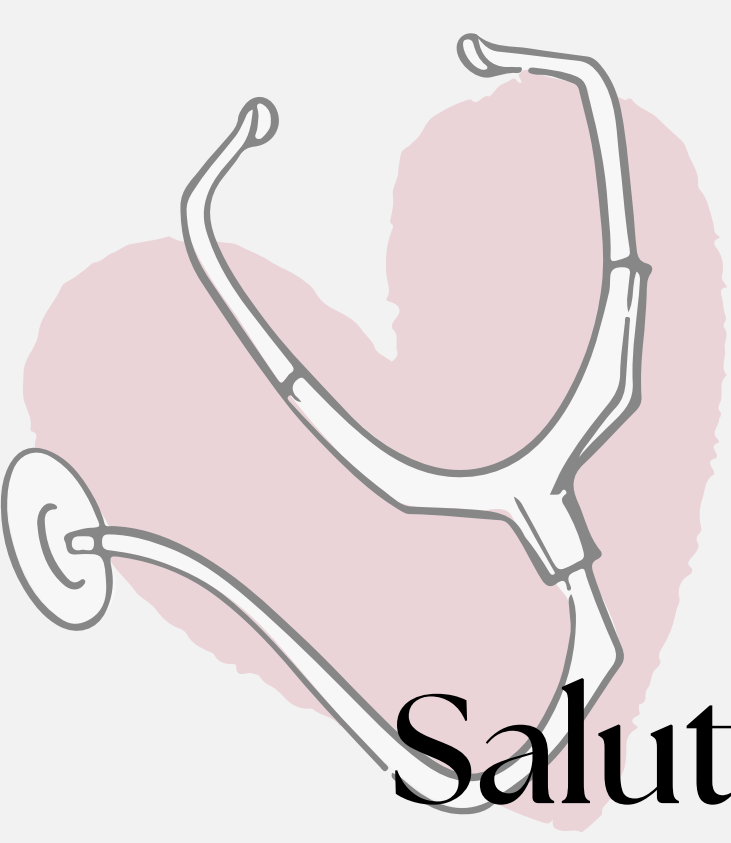

How July Get Its Name: Before Cæsar's time, the Roman calendar was a confusing mix of lunar cycles and arbitrary political adjustments. In 46 BCE, Cæsar commissioned the Alexandrian astronomer Sosigenes to reform it. The result was the Julian calendar, a solar-based system that closely resembles our modern calendar. At that time, the month we now call July was known as Quintilis, meaning "the fifth month" (the Roman year originally started in March). After Cæsar's death, in 44 BCE, the Roman Senate honored him by renaming Quintilis Julius (July) because it was the month of his birth. This renaming was not just flattery—it marked Cæsar's lasting impact on Roman civic life and, by extension, the Western world. A Legacy Carved in Time: Every time we refer to July, we evoke the memory of Julius Cæsar—his ambition, reforms, and the monumental changes he brought to Rome. The name itself stands as a reminder that the passage of time, recorded in calendars and dates, often carries the imprint of the individuals who shaped human history. Conclusion: So as you mark important dates in July—whether planning summer travels or commemorating national milestones—you can also reflect on how this month's name is a tribute to one of antiquity's most influential leaders. Through the calendar we still follow, Julius Cæsar's immortal legacy remains woven into our everyday lives. "Veni, vidi, vici"- "I came, I saw, I conquered;" -Julius Cæsar "Alea iacta est"- "The die is cast" -Julius Cæsar "Et tu Brute?"- "You too, Brutus?" -Julius Cæsar

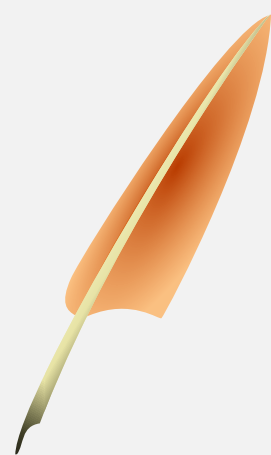

Debadrita
VII-B

Saluting the Savors in White Coats

Their white coat is like a moon in darkness,
They give us hope in illness.
They give their best to cure us,
They truly care for us.
They love their profession with all their heart,
Handling science of body
is their art .
Their life is full of sacrifice,
Yet, they deal with us so nice.
So here's a special wish
coming your way,
Happy Doctor's Day.

Snigdha Sarkar
VII-C

Eyes on the Skies – It's UFO Day!

“Little Green Men (LGM)” or “Aliens” they call them. An extra-terrestrial life that may or may not exist in other galaxies or planets.

I have always taken an interest in them. What they eat, what they look like if they are they evil or good (well, that is relative), what they wear, if they are a devoid of emotions or not-

Well, the questions are endless and It would be best for me to not write them all. But I have read news from the NASA scientists in google that there is a probability that aliens may exist.

Scientists send satellite signals through-out the entire space in which there's a diagram of our DNA and RNA. If by any chance, the extra-terrestrial life is as improved, or more than us, then they could catch the signal and by searching it, they could find that there's another living being called humans other than them.

This is how we are trying to connect ourselves to other (may or may not existing) extra-terrestrial beings. Fun right? I know!

There's another theory taken from “Relativity” that there exists an alternate universe where time flows backwards. But it is not sure if humans can live there. It happens in a “Black hole”.

A black hole is formed when a massive star reaches the end of its life and collapses in on itself. It starts to squeeze itself in a single point called “singularity”.

The gravitational force is so strong near the black hole that even light itself cannot escape it. So basically, the time around it stretches and twists and eventually the time starts to flow backwards there.

The gravity in the center of the black hole is the strongest. It's basically infinite.

So, if anything gets near it, it either gets crushed to nothing or stretches to an atom. It's really dangerous so don't even think about trying to get into a black hole.

Rashmika Sarkar

VII-A

A Soldier's Promise: To Serve, Protect, and Sacrifice

Rahul's grandfather, a veteran of the Kargil War, would often sit with him on the porch, sharing stories of bravery and sacrifice. Rahul's eyes would light up as he listened to tales of his grandfather's time in the army.

One day, Rahul asked, "Dada, what do you think about on July 26?" His grandfather's eyes sparkled, "I think of my fellow soldiers, their smiles, and their sacrifices. We fought for our country, and we won."

Rahul's curiosity was piqued. He asked his grandfather to tell him more about the war, about the soldiers who fought alongside him, and about the memories that still lingered in his mind.

As his grandfather spoke, Rahul felt a sense of pride and admiration for the soldiers who had fought for their country. He realized that the bravery and sacrifice of his grandfather and his fellow soldiers were what kept their nation safe.

Every year on July 26, Rahul would honor his grandfather's story, celebrating Kargil Vijay Diwas with pride and gratitude. He would listen to his grandfather's tales, and learn more about the history of the war.

As Rahul grew older, he began to understand the significance of Kargil Vijay Diwas. He realized that it wasn't just a celebration of victory, but a tribute to the soldiers who had given their lives for their country.

Rahul's grandfather would smile as he saw his grandson grow up, proud of the young man he was becoming. He knew that Rahul would carry the legacy of the soldiers' bravery forward, and that gave him hope for the future.

Mayukh Snigdha Panja
VII-B

International Tiger Day

One day a man entered into the deep jungle of Sundarbans. He was looking for a golden deer. Suddenly he came by a horrible demon. He tried to fly but he stumbled and fell down.

Then the demon came to and began to cackle at him. She then told him, she knew his fate. Do you like to see them? He nodded and she opened up her bag. He woke up twice and found himself surrounded by many tigers. The tigers were all staring at him with hatred. They were all hungry and lean in hunger. All of them accused him.

They complained that men had done it to them. They said " You men are very bad." You hunt the poor creature for trifle cause and shatter the balance of ecology. You make the situation worse and we are about to extinct. "Now if you don't swear that you will not kill animals, we will devour you." In fear he began to cry for help. This was the dream he saw in the dense forest of Sundarbans that changed him completely. Now the feeling of reserving wild animals is active within him.

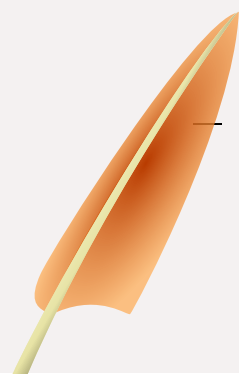

Siham Mirza
VII-C

ডাক্তার, নাকি ডিটেক্টিভ?

ডাক্তার, তুমি ডাক্তার নও,
তুমিও একজন ডিটেক্টিভ।
রোগটি হলো অপরাধী,
রোগীটি হলেন ভিকটিম।।
কেউ শোনো হৃদয়ের স্পন্দন,
কেউ বা করো সত্যের সন্ধান।
তুমি ভাবো যে,
খুঁজছো রোগের মাপ
কিন্তু আসলে যে,
খোঁজো রহস্যের ছাপ।।
এক দিকে - "ভাইরাস",
আর এক দিকে - "ক্রিমিনাল"।
তুমি চাও রোগের রিপোর্ট,
অন্যজন চায় জ্বর প্রমাণ।
আমি শুধুই ভাবি,
বসে চুপটি করে -
তুমিও গোয়েন্দা বটে,
হাসপাতালটির ঘরে।।
দু'দিকেই প্রয়োজন -
কঠোর ধৈর্য, সাধনা ও জ্ঞান।
একটু ভুল হলেই-
প্রাপ্য মহা অপমান।।
তোমাদের একটাই ধর্ম,
একটাই মহান কাজ।
মানুষ বাঁচানো আর -
করা ন্যায় বিচার।।
প্রতিটি মানুষের মনে -
তোমাদেরই রাজ।
সত্যি বলছি, তোমাদেরই প্রাপ্য
এক মহাসম্মানের "তাজ"।।

সৃষ্টি সাহা
VII-A

বিজয়ের শ্রাবণ

পাহাড় ডাকে, সীমান্ত জাগে,
শ্রাবণের বৃষ্টি তখনো থেমে না।
২৬ শ্রাবণ, কারগিল বিজয়—
একটি দিন, শত শহিদের কথা।

ওরা ছিল আমাদেরই মতো ছেলে,
হাত ধরেছিল মা'র, স্বপ্নে খেলেছিল মেলে।
কিন্তু ডাক এলে, ওরা পিছু হটেনি,
শত্রুর মুখে বলেছিল— "আমার ভারত অমলিন।"

টোলোলিঙ বাঁশিতে নয়, গর্জে উঠেছিল গান,
"জয় হিন্দ!" ধ্বনি ছড়িয়ে পড়েছিল সীমানার প্রান্তে জান।

মা হারাল পুত্র, স্ত্রী হারাল স্বামী,
তবুও গর্বে বুক ফুলে ওঠে, জানি।

আজ শ্রাবণ এলেও কাঁদে না শুধু আকাশ,
এ কাঁদে শহিদের রক্তে লেখা ইতিহাস।

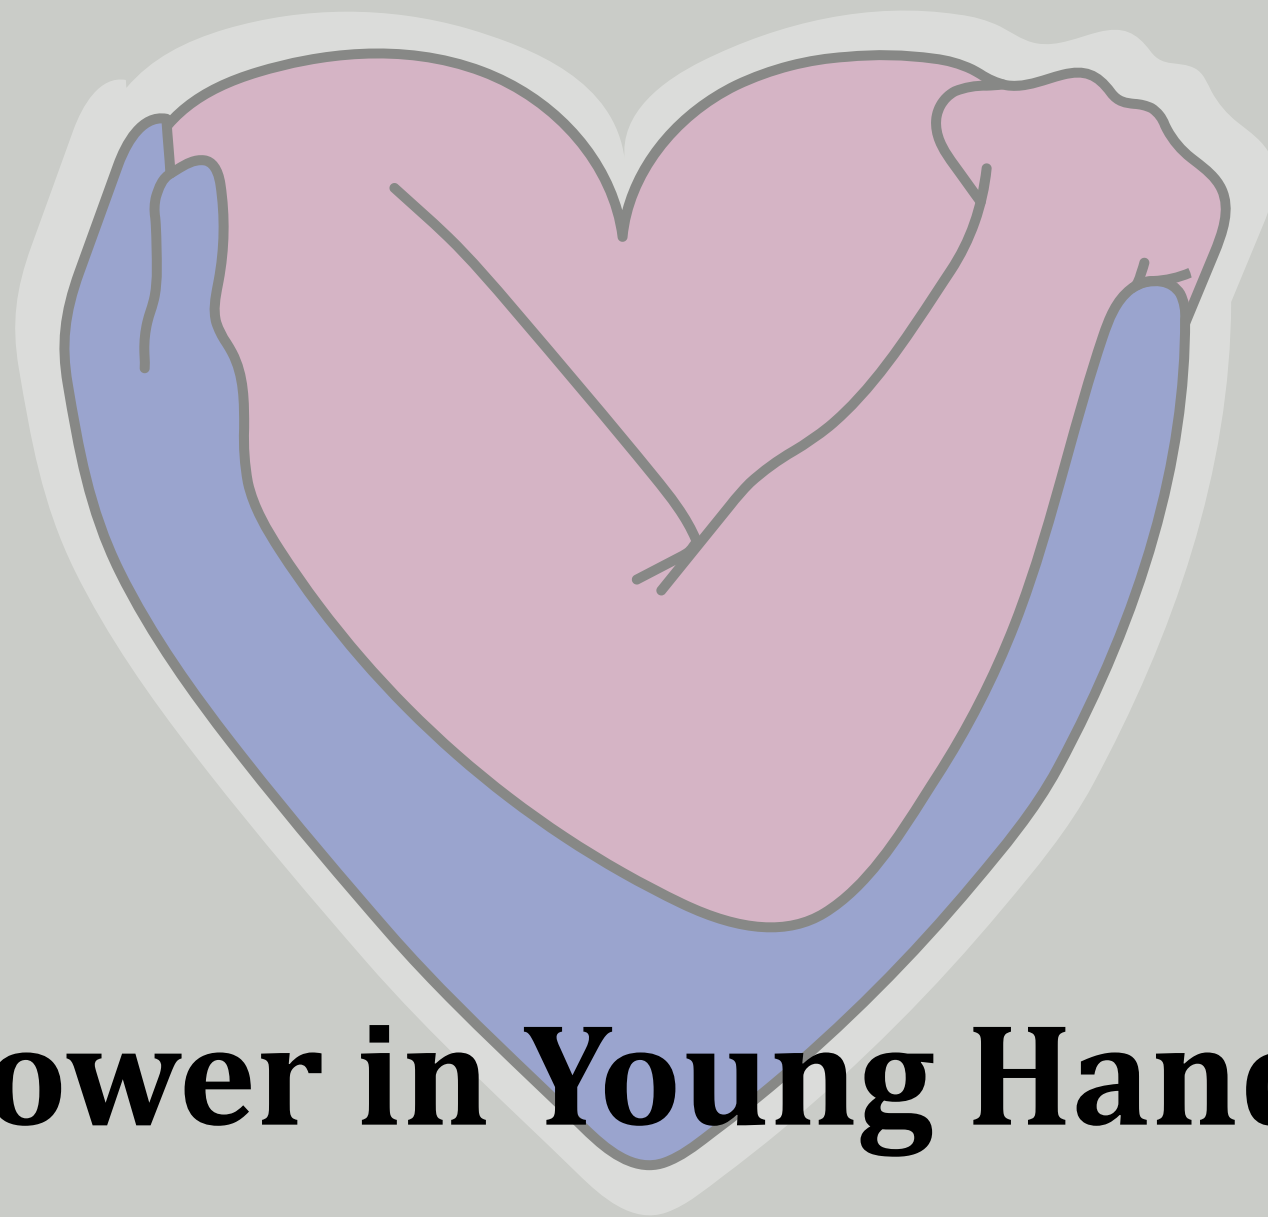

একটিবার থেমে ভাবি আমরা,
এই স্বাধীনতা এল কার দামে বলা তো সারা।

তাই এই শ্রাবণ, বিজয়ের শ্রাবণ,
গর্বে মাথা উঁচু করি, প্রণাম জানাই যত জন।

Rishit Bandyopadhyay
VII-B

Power in Young Hands

(World youth skills day 15th july)

We are young, but strong and wise with the dreams that reach to the sky.

We learn, we speak, we will try-
We will help the world to fly high.

Every difficulty all we Do-
Our hands make, our mind stays true.

We are the future, the raising sun with skills and heart, we will begun.

Asmita Mazumdar
VII-C

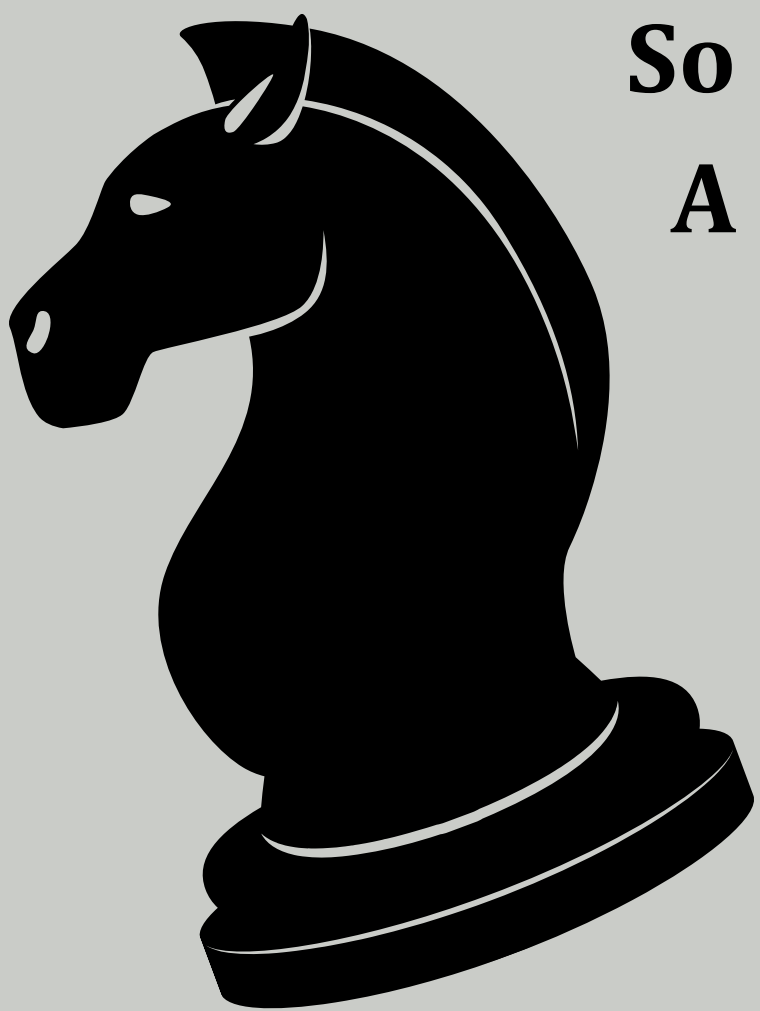

The Game of Kings

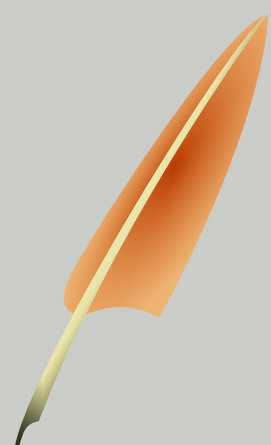

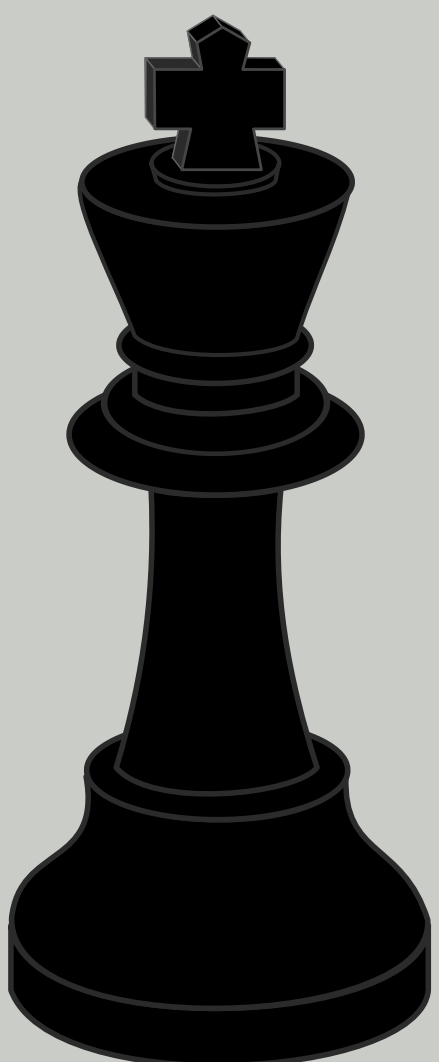

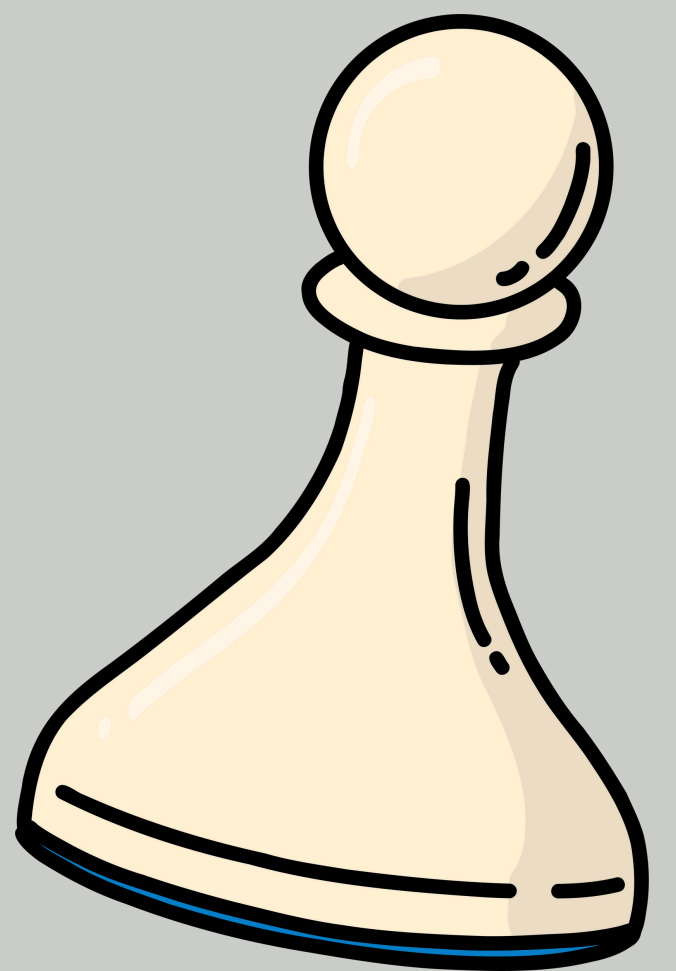

The board's set; pieces in place
A game of strategy, skill and pace
Each move's a thought, a plan, a test
Checkmate's the goal, let's do our best.

Pawns march forward, knights jump high
Bishops and rooks, they catch the eye
The queen's power, the king's delight,
A game of chess, a wondrous sight.

So here's to chess, a timeless friend,
A game of wisdom, that never ends.

Sabnur Parvin
VII-B

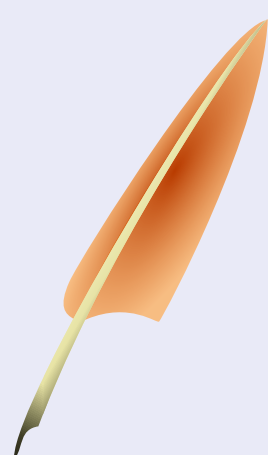

Spirits of the highway

I remember that day often. It was monday. My uncle around seven 'o clock came home in bike and said in a soft voice "I have managed all the problems. From now onwards no one will say that because of Bhuto I have fallen, It had bitten me". As soon as he said these words his face became white and pale. His eyes became watery. He went to his room and shut the door.

Bhuto has come in our house for 3 years. He is neither our relative, and nor a boy. He is not even a human. It is our loving pet dog, Bhuto. He has big adorable eyes, brown patches all over it's body, and is gifted with a playful mind. My father and my uncle had leave it three miles before under a palash tree. Actually what happened that day let me explain.

Bhuto was small may be one year old. He always remained tied with a chain. One day that chain broke and he got released. Out of excitement, it jumped over my aunt and my aunt being most afraid of dogs started screaming. Bhuto somehow scratched my aunt. Later that day, my aunt scolded my uncle a lot This made my uncle very angry. We love Bhuto so much. But Bhuto made the situation worse when he bit the neighbour. The neighbour came and said my uncle so many bad words thaht my uncle could not bear. My uncle made up mind that he would leave Bhuto by road side.

That day my father also went with my uncle. He told that Bhuto was running behind them. He told my uncle that Bhuto was getting tired but my uncle was strict and stubborn . After some time Bhuto lost track of which road we took. After many days, uncle went there and tried to take information about Bhuto. Everyone told that a dog who look just same like Bhuto had died afew days ago on a car accident. My uncle came home crying and gave us that horrible news. My eyes became watery. I started to remember the best moments I had with Bhuto. One day when I was passing by that palash tree Bhuto' s bark came flowing in air. It was as same as Bhuto. I looked around to see if there was any dog but there was no one. We should not have left Bhuto. Astonishingly , all our family members have listened to the same bark. If you go you will also hear that.

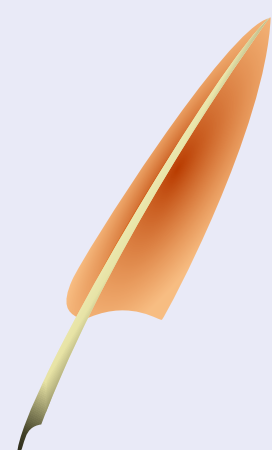

Sinjini Kar
VII-A

Starless night

Deary and tired eyes of the night
Words too worn out
To yell to fight
Drained for the hope of tomorrow
They look at each other and eachother's sorrow
Eyes too used to cry
They are shut now
A dark sky
Another starless night
3:00AM
And the tail called life

Saptadipa Biswas
VII-C

শ্রাবণের ছোঁয়া

শ্রাবণ এলো টুপটাপ, মেঘে ভেজা দিন,
ছাতা মাথায় দৌড় দিই, খুশিতে করি গিন।
ঝামঝামে এই বৃষ্টিতে, স্কুলে পড়া ভুলে,
বন্ধুদের সাথে মজা, গল্প করে তালে তালে।

জলকাদায় ছপ ছপ শব্দ, হেসে যায় মন,
আকাশে বাজে বাদ্যি, যেন শ্রাবণের ধ্বনন।
জল পড়ে পাতায় পাতায়, যেন সুরের ধারা,
এই তো মধুময় শ্রাবণ, মন ভরে সারা।

কচি ডালে নতুন কুঁড়ি, জেগে ওঠে প্রাণ,
প্রকৃতির রঙের খেলায়, হারায় সব মান।
ফাহিমের হাসিমুখে খাতা কলম ছেড়ে,
বৃষ্টির মাঝে স্বপ্ন আঁকে, মেঘের সাথে ভেসে!

শিক্ষার মাঝে উৎসব, শ্রাবণ দেয় ছোঁয়া,
এই সংখ্যায় ফুটুক তাই, ভালোবাসার মোয়া।

Fahim shakil
VII-C

World Population Day: 8 Billion Stories, One Planet— Can We keep Up ?

Imagine a world with 8 billion heartbeats, 8 billion dreams, and 8 billion hopes rising with the morning sun. That's not science fiction — that's our world today. On July 11, we celebrate World Population Day — a day that's not about fear of numbers, but about the beauty, challenges, and potential of humanity.

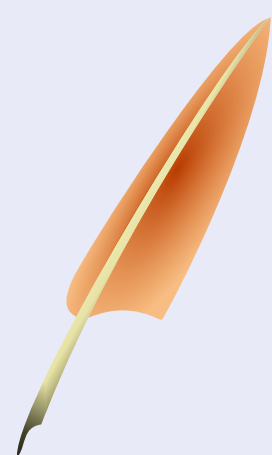

Yes, the numbers are huge. More people mean more mouths to feed, more schools to build, more jobs to create, and more pressure on nature. Forests are shrinking, cities are overflowing, and the planet is whispering for help. But here's the twist — the problem isn't the people. It's how we plan, how we share, and how we care.

World Population Day is a reminder that every person matters — especially those often left behind. When girls are educated, when families have choices, and when health and rights are respected, everything changes. Poverty goes down. Opportunities go up. The world becomes not just bigger, but better.

Think of it this way: every person is a spark. Given the right fuel — knowledge, care, and opportunity — that spark can light up the world.

So let's not fear the future. Let's shape it — with kindness, equality, and smart choices. Whether you recycle, speak up, study, teach, or simply care — you're part of the solution.

This World Population Day, remember: the world isn't too full — it's full of potential. And together, we can turn 8 billion challenges into 8 billion chances to make the world a place where everyone not only survives... but thrives.

Aritra Ghosh
VII-A

Brain Buzz

- 1) Which roman general's name is the month of July named after?
- 2) Which of the following is not typically associated with July?
- 3) In the northern hemisphere ; July is considered as what season?
- 4) Which historical event related to India often occurs in July?
- 5) Which constellation is most prominent in the night sky during July?
- 6) The world day trafficking in persons is observed in July on which date?
- 7) What is the name of world's first artificial satellite?
- 8) Who is the author of the famous novel '1984'?
- 9) What company was known as 'Blue Ribbon Sports'?
- 10) Recently who won the Asian billiards Championship in Riyadh Saudi Arabia?
- 11) What type of pineapple is grown in West Bengal?
- 12) What is Acrophobia a fear of?
- 13) Which country has the highest life expectancy?
- 14) When is world Zoonoses day observed?
- 15) Where was the Asian squash Doubles Championship 2024 held?
- 16) What is the birthstone of July?

Sinjini Kar
VII-A

A Chat with the Logically Illogical!

1. Teacher: Why did you write 'etc' at the end of your answer sheet?

Student: Because ETC stands for E- End of
T- Thinking
C- Capacity

2. Teacher: Why are you doing multiplication on the floor?

Student: Because you said to do the multiplication without table.

3. Teacher: What is the longest word in English language?

Student: It is the "Smiles"

Teacher: Why?

Student: Because there is a 'mile' before the first and the last letter.

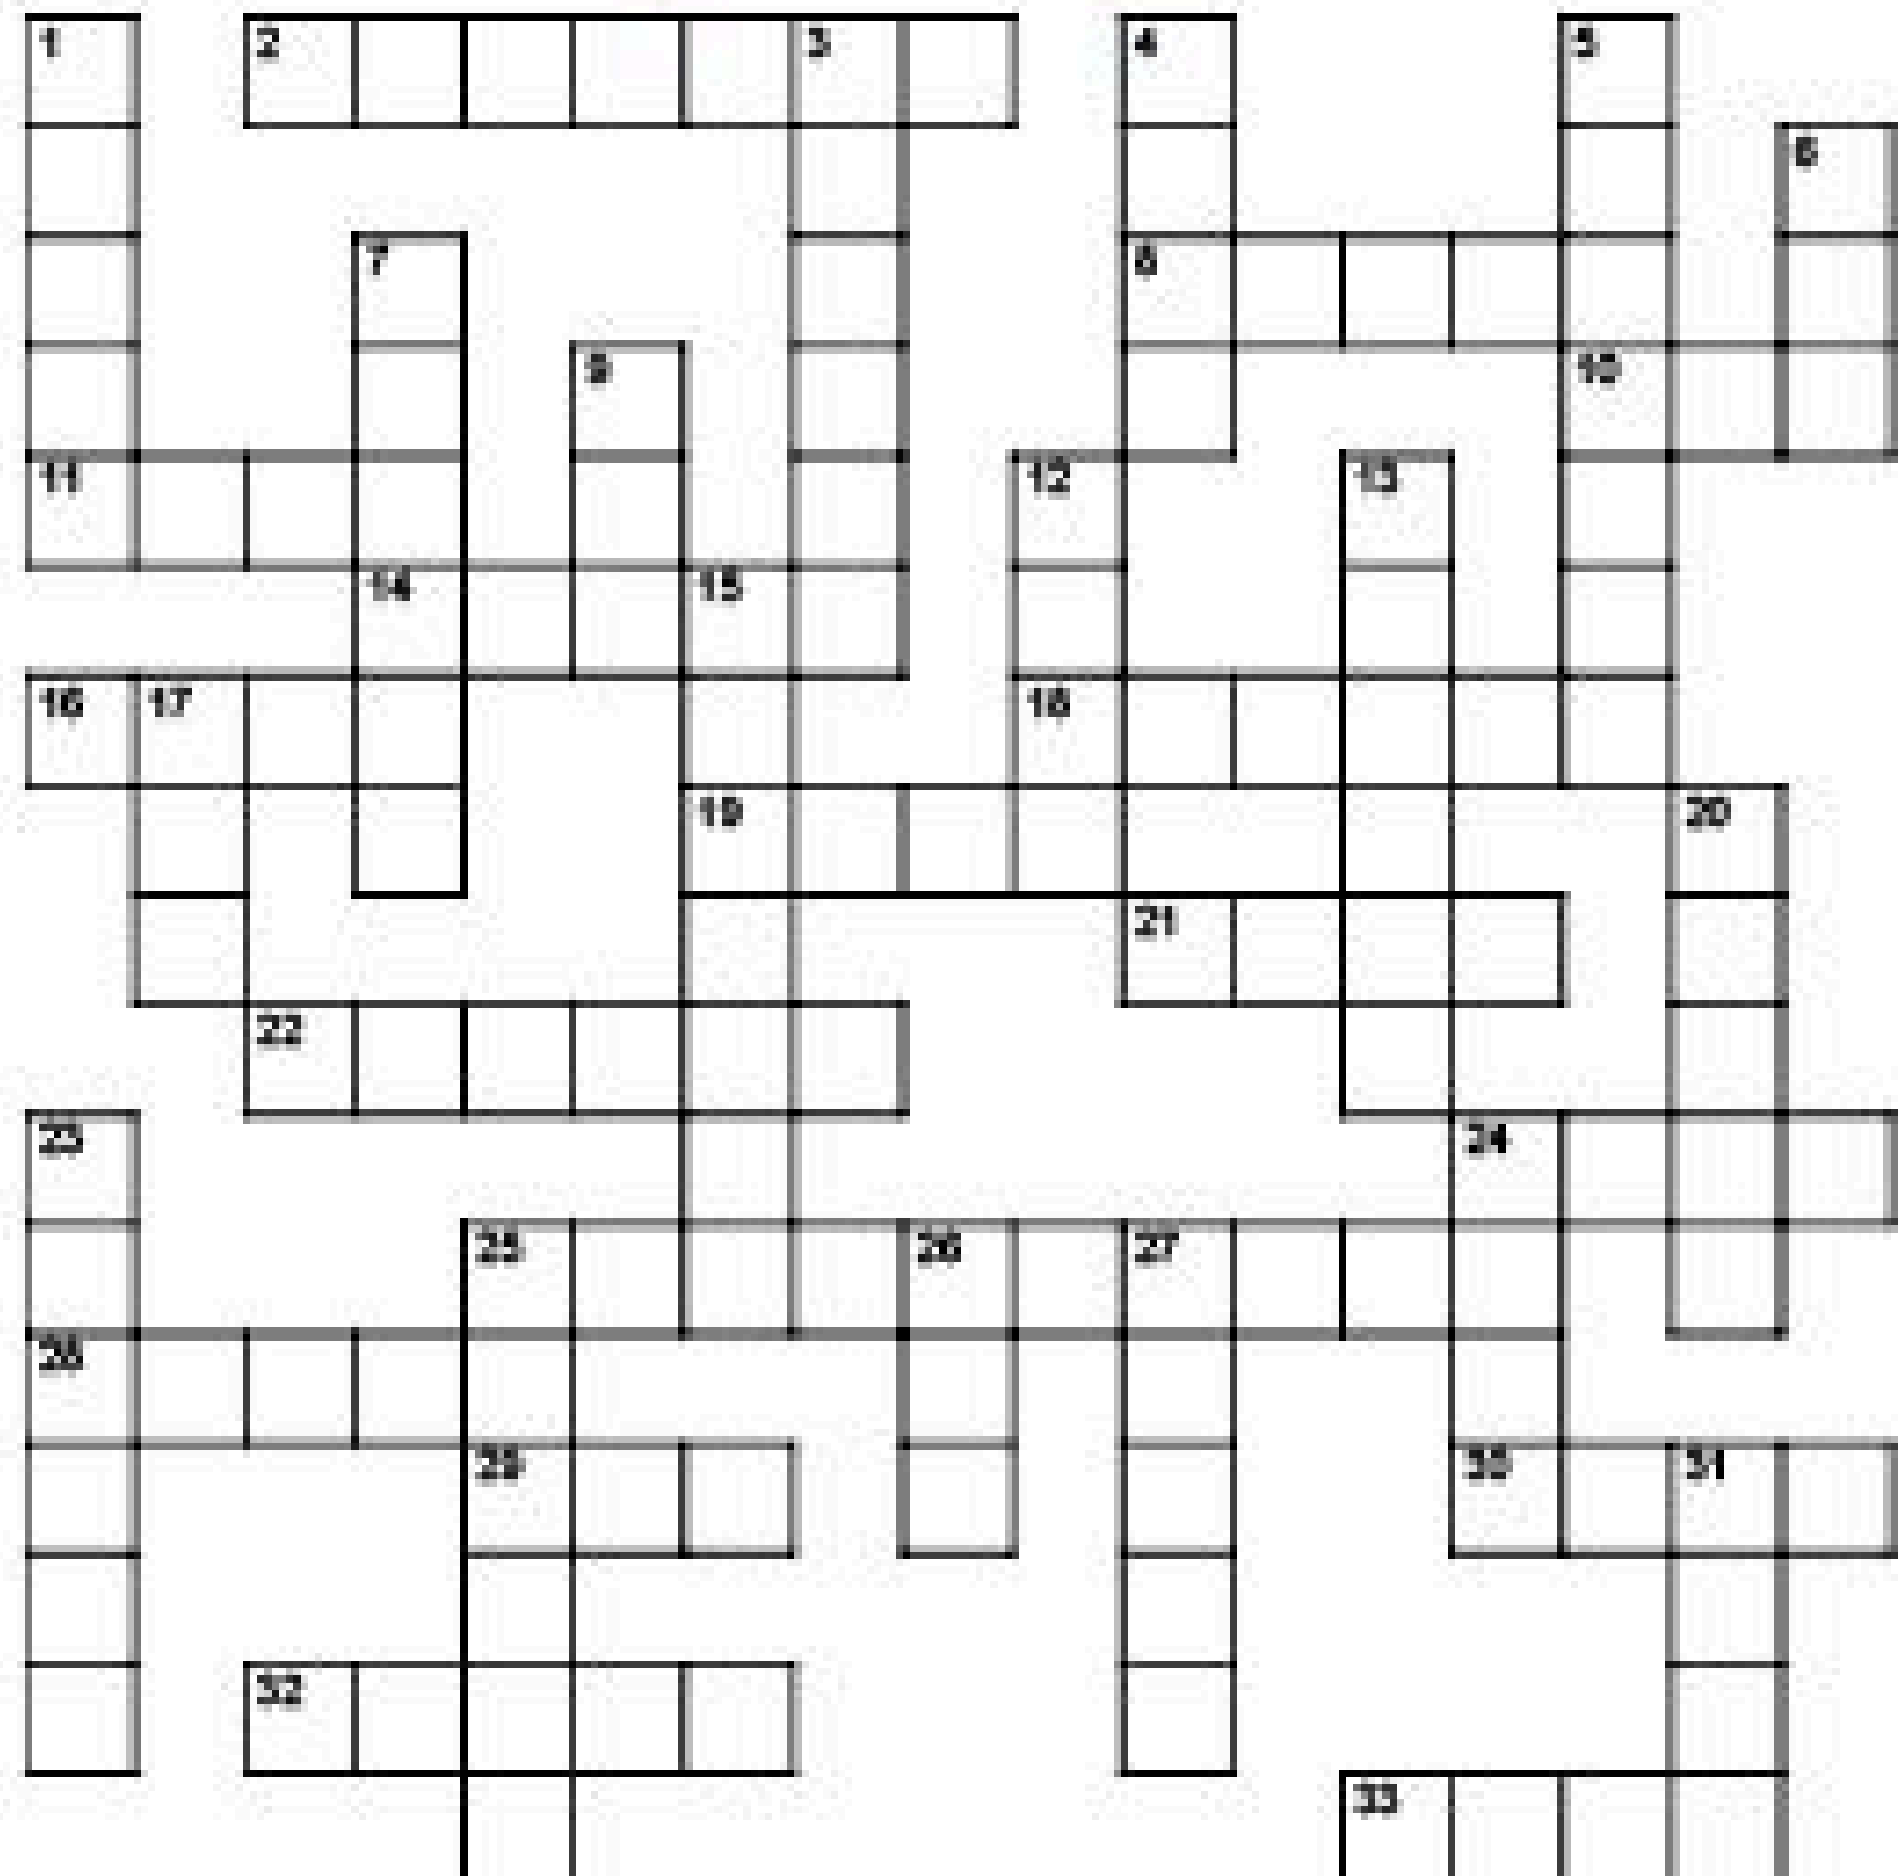

Name: _____ Date: _____

Synonyms

DIRECTIONS:
Find the word with a similar meaning and write it in the crossword grid.

Word Bank

AFRAID, AUTOMOBILE,
BIG, BLANK, CAP,
CENTER, COUCH, EVIL,
FATHER, GARBAGE,
GLOOMY, HAPPY,
HIDE, IDEA, ILL, JOG,
LISTEN, LITTLE, LOOK,
MAD, MOTHER, NEAT,
PRESENT, QUICK, REST,
ROCK, RUG, SACK,
SNIFF, STRANGE,
TALL, TRUE, UNDER,
WOMAN, YELL

Across

2. odd
8. below
10. large
11. tidy
14. glad
16. cover
18. small
19. bad
21. thought
22. middle
24. stone
25. car
28. smell

29. carpet

30. high
32. fast
33. bag

Down

1. lady
3. sad
4. right
5. trash
6. run
7. mom
9. hat
12. shout

13. dad
15. gift
17. sick
20. sofa
23. hear

24. relax
25. scared
26. angry
27. empty
31. see

Wrapped with words, woven with wonder – A July Journey by Class 7 Stars!

